Settlement May Avert Coal Strike

Washington, AP—A last-minute settlement that would head off Monday's scheduled strike against northern soft coal operators was reported increasingly likely yesterday by well qualified sources.

There was no word one way or the other, however, from United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis or from Harry Moses, head of the Northern Producers Association. There negotiations continued in secret.

One prominent industry source, who asked that his name not be used, told a reporter: "I hear they're getting pretty close."

A high government official, also declining to be quoted by name, said: "I think there will be a settlement."

Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman gave out this word: "I am keeping informed as much as possible and I am hopeful a settlement will be worked out."

The mines involved employ some 200,000 workers.

Lewis reportedly has been demanding a $1.80 daily pay increase and a 10 cents a ton increase in the operators' payments to the UMW welfare fund, which finances pension and other benefits. The basic daily wage now is $16.35 and the operators turn over to the welfare fund 30 cents for every ton of coal mined.

Reports circulating in government and industry circles said the Northern operators were close to accepting terms not far from those Lewis wants.

Word from Chicago was that virtually all members of the Illinois Coal Operators Association were likely to sign an agreement with Lewis which would let them continue production if the strike comes.

Some major operators in Central Pennsylvania and Indiana also were reported considering such an arrangement.

Lewis already has reached an interim agreement with Eastern Pennsylvania hard coal producers, calling for a 20 cents a ton increase in welfare fund royalties.

Strike action against Southern producers has been delayed at least until Oct. 1.

Chaplin May Be Barred From U. S.

Washington, AP—The government ordered an inquiry yesterday to decide whether Charlie Chaplin, now on his way to Europe, should be barred from returning to the United States.

Atty. Gen. McGranery announced the action in the case of the English-born, four-times-married comedian, whose name has been associated with leftist causes and who once was investigated by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

McGranery said he has told the Immigration and Naturalization Service to keep Chaplin out of the country, if and when he returns, until a hearing determines whether he is admissible under United States law.

The Justice Department declined to elaborate.

Under immigration laws an alien—Chaplin never has become a citizen, although he came to this country 40 years ago—can be refused entry into the country for moral turpitude or for political affiliations.

Chaplin was indicted on charges of violating the Mann act, which forbids transporting a woman across a state line for immoral purposes, in 1944.

He was acquitted, but the girl in the case, Joan Berry, filed a paternity suit against him, and in 1945, after two sensational court trials, Chaplin was adjudged the father of Miss Berry's child.

Chaplin has been listed as a supporter of various organizations denounced in Congress as left-wing.

Chaplin, 63, left New York Thursday aboard the Queen Elizabeth with his fourth wife, the former Ona O'Neill and their three children.

The actor planned to be away six months, visiting England and then going on to Europe.

Pittsburgh, AP—Retired educator Robert M. Sherrard, former associate superintendent of the Pittsburgh Public Schools, died yesterday at the age of 83.

Community Chest Lumps Ten Campaigns Into One

By Leonard Randolph

No other Monroe county public service organization saves so much of your time as does the Community Chest and Council.

Few residents realize that fact. Serving, as it does, as the central collection agency for a series of organizations, the Chest eliminates the necessity for "individual agency drives."

If it were not for the annual Chest campaign Monroe County residents would very likely be asked to contribute to no less than ten smaller drives.

Each of these drives would collect funds for one of the agencies served by the Chest; each would require volunteer workers and a separate publicity campaign; each would also require the continued support of the community in what would eventually amount to a "year-round" solicitation for funds.

As is the case with most large agencies which coordinate the fund-raising activities of other, smaller sub-divisions, the Community Chest has lost a little of the "personal" contact with the public which less encompassing agencies may maintain.

In making it possible for Monroe county to give its contributions to ten major welfare agencies in one lump sum the Chest performs a valuable job.

When the Chest worker appears at your factory, business house or home during this year's campaign he or she will be asking you to contribute to each of the following organizations:

The Boy Scouts, Child Health Committee, Children's Aid Society, Crippled Children's Society, General Hospital, Girl Scouts, Public Health Nursing, Salvation Army, United Defense Fund and the YMCA.

Each of these organizations is a "Red Feather Agency" whose activities are partly financed by the Monroe County Community Chest.

During the coming year the dollar you give to the Chest may be used, in part, by any one or all of these organizations.

The Salvation Army will use its portion of the money you contribute to finance classes in religious training, handicraft, instrumental and vocal music—classes which are held every day of the week in the building on N. Courtland St.

At the Children's Aid Society, the funds will be used to help finance the direct care of children who have been placed in foster homes, awaiting adoption or return to their own mothers.

Funds allocated to the Child Health Committee permit parents who earn enough for food and shelter to provide adequate medical and dental care for their children.

And so the story goes—agency by agency—each dollar is used in a specific and beneficial manner.

During the days between the opening of the annual Chest campaign and the close of that drive for funds The Daily Record will attempt to give YOU the inner view of the manner in which your money is being used.

By doing this, your community newspaper will take you into each of the agencies you help supply with funds for operation.

One of the most often repeated clichés heard during the collection of funds for any charitable organization is the old whetzel about: "Charity begins at home."

In the days that follow we'll attempt to prove that some people have the wrong interpretation of "home"—that, instead of just four walls and two bedrooms, it may be many houses and many rooms.

Seoul, AP—Thirty-three Superforts in the first mass daylight raid in 11 months dropped 300 tons of fire bombs yesterday on a Communist military center near the East Korean industrial city of Hamhung.

A spokesman said all the Superforts, personally led by Brig. Gen. Wiley D. Caney, chief of the Far East Air Forces Bomber Command, returned safely.

Swift Sabres jets flew protective cover for the big bombers, but Red fighters failed to challenge the raiders. The Russian-built MIGs rarely appear on the Korean East Coast, remaining closer to their Manchurian bases, some 180 miles to the west.

Other Sabres sighted about 50 MIGs on the Yalu River frontier during the day but no contacts were made.

Last year the MIGs made it so hot for unescorted Superforts that daylight raids were suspended after Oct. 28.

Yesterday's targets were the Yonto military barracks containing 140 buildings, not previously hit by Superforts, and the 210-acre Tongchon supply area.

While the heaviest air blow fell in the East, Allied troops fought on grimly for control of Old Baldy on the Western Korean Front.

Harrisburg, AP—The disappearance from a hotel office of jewelry worth $60,000 at wholesale prices was reported yesterday by city police.

Oscar Blough, chief of police, said diamond rings and wedding bands given an employee of the Penn-Harris Hotel for safekeeping were stolen from the hotel's auditing office Monday night.

The owner of the jewelry, stored in two cases, was Myron L. Jackson, vice president of the Shiman Brothers, New York. One of the cases was found empty Tuesday along the Susquehanna River in Columbia, Blough said.

London, AP—Britain has demanded Red China tell what happened to 72 Allied men and women held captive in the Communist country, the Foreign Office announced yesterday.

Samuel S. Lewis, secretary of forests and waters, without announcing what his decision would be, said he felt sportsmen of the state would approve it when the action is taken.

Lewis, commenting on the sportsmen's action, told the federation's annual convention:

"Ever since assuming duties as secretary, I have been giving serious consideration to hunting in state park areas. I sincerely believe that my determination in this matter, which will be announced in the very near future and will be effective for the current hunting season, will meet with the approval of all sportsmen of the state."

Some 75 delegates from all parts of the state registered for the opening of the two-day convention. The directors of the association which has 1,050 affiliated clubs and 298,000 members held a business meeting yesterday morning.

Almost 50 proposed resolutions dealing with conservation problems were considered at discussion session. Delegates will vote tomorrow on which resolutions will be supported by the federation.

In a letter to Lewis the federation complained that "sportsmen were completely ignored" when regulations prohibiting hunting in state parks were established.

"We have felt that some large areas, mostly located in sections of great population density, should be open to annual game removal."

Lewis told a reporter he will announce his decision as soon as complete plans can be worked out. He added that the department had a major responsibility in safeguarding the lives of people living in the immediate neighborhood of state parks.

Escapes Linked To $12,600 Bank Holdup In New York; Also Reported In Pittsburgh

New York, AP—Three rampaging federal prison escapes yesterday were linked to the brazen holdups this week of a private arsenal and a bank in the Bronx.

For a time police thought they might have them trapped in a Northern Illinois conflict. But it turned out to be three other men, who fled their ditched car near Dixon, Ill., when officers stopped for a routine investigation of the accident.

However, at about the same time, one of the men was reported seen in Pittsburgh by a men's store proprietor.

The widening search for the trio was heightened after the men were identified by Bronx bank employees. The three convicts apparently now are well-heeled with $12,600 of the bank's cash, and heavily armed with at least a dozen stolen guns.

U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald issued bench warrants for the arrest of the three—Joseph Wayne Nolan, 26, his brother, Ballard, 29, both of White County, Ky., and Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago.

The three escapees terrorized the Pennsylvania countryside after they broke from Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary, holding the James J. Hill family captive in their home near Philadelphia for 19 hours Sept. 11.

Roadblocks failed to halt the fugitives.

Last Tuesday, two armed bandits robbed a Bronx branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co. of $12,600. They fled in a convertible car. Witnesses thought a third man was at the wheel.

Police said the bank bandits acted like "strictly amateurs who took a chance and got away with it."

However all three fugitives have records as bank robbers.

Bank employees identified the convicts from FBI circulars bearing their pictures.

Crawford Notch, N. H., AP—A 400-pound black bear ran wild in a state park yesterday, killed his 18-year-old keeper and injured two men and a woman before being slain by 13 bullets.

State police said the body of the victim, Robert Hucksins, was found an hour later in a thicket several yards from the cage where the animal was kept with his mate.

Seriously mauled, but not considered in critical condition at North Conway Hospital, were two other employees of the state park, Arthur Boucher, 67, and Guy Noyes, 70.

Mrs. Ruth Hadley, 42, operator of a gift shop at the recreation area, who threw stones at the enraged animal as it straddled Noyes and bit his neck, was knocked down by the bear but doctors said she apparently suffered only scratches.

Appeal To U. S.

Strasbourg, France, AP—A group of European legislators last night urged the United States to employ its offshore procurement funds to promote "genuine integration" of European armament industries as a step to lightening Western rearmament burdens.

Sportsmen Call Upon State To Open Parks For Hunting

Harrisburg, AP—The Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs pressed yesterday for opening of 33,000 acres of state park land for hunting. There was some immediate indication of favorable consideration.

Samuel S. Lewis, secretary of forests and waters, without announcing what his decision would be, said he felt sportsmen of the state would approve it when the action is taken.

Lewis, commenting on the sportsmen's action, told the federation's annual convention:

"Ever since assuming duties as secretary, I have been giving serious consideration to hunting in state park areas. I sincerely believe that my determination in this matter, which will be announced in the very near future and will be effective for the current hunting season, will meet with the approval of all sportsmen of the state."

Slack Sought To Dismiss Indictments

Washington, AP—T. Lamar Caudle told House investigators yesterday that Ellis N. Slack, recently accused of trying to whitewash the St. Louis tax scandals, was sent by the Justice Department to help get other tax cases dismissed in Nashville and Milwaukee.

Slack succeeded Caudle as head of the department's tax division after President Truman fired Caudle last November for "outside activities." Slack, in turn, recently was demoted after the testimony about his role in the St. Louis scandal.

Caudle appeared yesterday, for the second day in a row, before the same House judiciary subcommittee which heard the earlier testimony about Slack.

In a rich North Carolina accent, Caudle testified that Slack:

One—Was sent to Nashville to get dismissals of tax fraud charges against the late W. M. Massey, father-in-law of Rep. Pat Suttan (D-Tenn.), and others. Caudle said the department felt these cases should not be prosecuted. And he said the indictments were dismissed.

Two—Was sent to Milwaukee to tell a federal judge the department had no objection to the dismissal, on health grounds, of tax charges against a client of former Sen. Scott Lucas (D-Ill.). Caudle said Lucas phoned him and the then attorney general, J. Howard McGrath, repeatedly about the case. Ultimately the charge against the woman was dismissed.

Caudle didn't give the date of these missions by Slack. He said they came at a time when the department felt there had been too many runaway grand juries—that is, grand juries which handed down more indictments than the department thought justified.

German-Wide Vote Urged By Red Zone

Bonn, Germany, AP—A five-man delegation from the Soviet zone, hooded and jeered by anti-Communist spectators, called on West Germany yesterday to help form an East-West German commission to investigate the possibility of nationwide elections.

The Red emissaries also proposed that the West and East German Parliaments exchange representatives to discuss unifying this divided country.

They said that both East and West Germans should be allowed to take part in any Big Four talks on the future of Germany.

Dr. Hermann Ehlers, president of the West German Bundestag (lower house) who received the group, immediately declared that their proposals "followed the lines of the well-known Eastern propaganda."

"Give us back our war prisoners," the crowd shouted, "Go back to Moscow. We do not deal with kidnappers."

He named the "buses" as "the heirs and joint heirs of the Kelly machine in Chicago, the Tammany machine in New York, the Hague machine in New Jersey and the Penberg machine in Kansas City."

ARE YOU STARVING YOUR SOUL?

Jesus of Nazareth taught his followers to pray: Give us this day our daily bread.

But he also reminded the world that: Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

It is possible, then, for the body to be well-fed while the soul is starving to death!

That is why churches are as essential to the well-being of a community as farms and factories.

And the people who understand this Christian truth will be as conscientious about worshipping in Church as they are about their ploughing or their employment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Well, Mr. Craig!

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D, Easton, Pa. who has represented Monroe, Carbon and Northampton County in Washington some 20 years has withdrawn as a speaker on the same platform with his Republican opponent, John Russell Craig, because Craig is alleged to have said Walter has been "hoodwinking" the people during his 20 years in Congress.

For the moment we are not concerned with the politics which might be involved in this issue which, incidentally, leaves the Foreign Policy Association of the Delaware Valley with Craig as the only speaker.

We are, to put it mildly, astonished at Mr. Craig's answer to Mr. Walter's charges that the Republican nominee's statement is "gratuitous" and "unwarranted". Here's the answer of the GOP candidate, as published by regional newspapers.

"If Mr. Walter desires to believe everything he reads in the newspapers, I am sorry . . . Mistakes may happen by newspapers and by me".

Still without taking sides politically, we'd like to assert—either Craig made the statement he is accused of making, or he did not.

Either way—as a candidate, as a business consultant which he claims he is, as a former Naval officer—or just as an average American, he should flatly admit or deny he made the statement.

He should not try to hide behind an American newspaper. We know we make mistakes—but we don't know of single newspaper, even the most anemic weekly—which would be so stupid as to coin phrases during a political campaign which involves the very freedom of American newspapers to inform American people.

Mr. Owlett's Stand

The leader of the Taft forces in the Pennsylvania Republican organization has just given an impressive demonstration of party loyalty.

G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn., was the man who led the campaign for Senator Taft in Pennsylvania.

He took a licking at the Chicago convention, and he took another one the other day, when he was dropped from the Republican National Executive Committee.

Mr. Owlett obviously was dropped because he was a Taft man, for he was immediately replaced by Pennsylvania's other member of the Republican National Committee, Mrs. Katherine Murdock of Greensburg, an Eisenhower supporter.

Mr. Owlett spent no time sulking and made no dark hints about going fishing. Here is his reaction in his own words:

"You can draw your own conclusions how I feel. My personal feelings are unimportant in a national crisis like this.

"I am going all out for the ticket. I'm a Republican. I've always been a Republican. I have worked in the vineyard of the party for 35 years.

"Certainly I won't let pique jealousies interfere with the good of the country. I'm interested in the future of America."

Mr. Owlett's willingness to pitch in, despite discouraging developments, shows a high degree of political sportsmanship and principle.

The ancient Aztecs enjoyed an ear of corn best if it was Left: Hartley

It has become customary in this country to take an idea and turn it into a bad word. Those who play with semantics call such a word a symbol; actually, it is an old trick, one of the oldest in public relations. It is like making Herbert Hoover the symbol for a deep depression, although no objective economic history from 1920 to 1932 can possibly fix such responsibility on him.

The Taft-Hartley Law, passed in 1947 by the 80th Congress was a measure to replace the Wagner Law, which had been prepared by Lee Pressman, who has since confessed that he "had been a member of the Communist Party. At the moment of the passage of the Act, a committee of Congress was appointed to watch its operations and to propose such amendments and changes as might become necessary.

President Truman vetoed the Act and it was passed over his veto by Congress, Democrats as well as Republicans, overruling him. This incensed the Little Man, who has refused to employ many of its provisions and who has renamed it, "The Slave Labor Act," which is a cheap trick of a vindictive mind.

The C.I.O., which has prospered during the existence of the Taft-Hartley Law, is violently opposed to it. The C.I.O. wants no law or a reversion to the Wagner Act as prepared by Pressman when he was the C.I.O.'s lawyer.

Now, along comes Adlai Stevenson, who proposes the re-writing of the Taft-Hartley Law. He does not go along with Harry Truman. He says:

"I don't say that everything in the Taft-Hartley Act is wrong. It isn't. And moreover, I'll say frankly that I don't think it's a slave labor law, either. But I do say that it was biased and politically inspired and has not improved labor relations in a single plant.

"We must have a new law and my conclusion is that we can best remedy the defects in the old law by scrapping it and starting over again. What should be retained from the old law can best be written into the new law after the political symbolism of Taft-Hartley Act is behind us."

No one can object to the amendment of any law on the statute books. It is done every day when Congress is in session. But note what Stevenson really says in those two paragraphs: he wants to scrap the Taft-Hartley Law because it has become a bad symbol.

He says, in five points, how he would rewrite the law:

Point 1. He advocates the universal closed shop.

Point 2. He advocates union responsibility much as it is written in the Taft-Hartley Law with a bit of FEPC thrown in. With regard to the Taft-Hartley Law's provisions against unfair practices by unions, he says:

"Yet I think it is only common sense to acknowledge that we must forbid such practices as jurisdictional strikes, and strikes or boycotts attempting to force an employer to deal with one union when another has been certified as the representative of his employees."

So, Point 3. He advocates outlawing unfair bargaining practices by unions or employers.

Point 4. He rejects the labor injunction; that is, he reduces all labor-management relations to a function of the executive branch of the government without judicial review. This is Fascism.

Point 5. Here Adlai Stevenson gets stuck. He is required to make a constructive suggestion, but this is what he says:

"I have no miracle-drug solution for this problem. I am clear, though, that where the Government must intervene in these private disputes, its purpose must be not just to stop the strike, but to see that the dispute gets settled."

"I am clear, too, that the new law must recognize that these emergency cases are always different. It's a proven mistake for Congress to prescribe in advance the same old patent medicine for all of them."

Mr. Stevenson is a lawyer. He is presently the Governor of a state and has to sign or veto legislation dealing with a vast number of subjects. Few of the laws passed fit every imaginable case, even laws concerning murder, rape and burglary. That is why offenders are brought in to courts to be tried by a judge and jury, where they can be defended by counsel in the presence of the public and press. That is why, under our concept of human values, acts of legislation are subject to judicial review.

Scripture—1 Kings 1:28-40;
2:1-15; 3:1-6; 4:1; 8:11 Chronicles
5:6.

In our own time kings have died or abdicated and have been replaced by their sons or daughters, one of the latest being Queen Elizabeth of England, the unexpected death of whose beloved father brought that age-old proclamation, "The king is dead; long live the queen!"

Solomon, whose name has gone down the centuries as the greatest and wisest of the kings of Israel, was promised the throne by his father, because he loved Bathsheba, Solomon's mother. The king sent for Bathsheba and told her he wanted Solomon to succeed him. Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and said, "Let my lord king David live for ever."

David sent Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, and others, and told them to mount Solomon on the king's own mule. They did so, and brought him to Gihon.

"And Zadok the priest took the horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon. And they blew the trumpet; and all the people said, God save King Solomon."

David's charge to Solomon was a touching and beautiful thing: "I go the way of all earth; be thou strong therefore, and shew thyself a man."

"And keep the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk in His ways, to keep His statutes, and His Commandments. . . . That thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest, and whithersoever thou turnest thyself."

Jehovah appeared to Solomon in a dream, saying, "Ask what I shall give thee." Solomon did not ask riches, honors, victories over enemies, or even personal happiness. He told Jehovah that he felt like a little child, not knowing how to go out or come in. The people he had been called to rule over were a great people, he said, and humbly he asked Jehovah for an understanding heart to rule wisely over them.

"And the speech pleased the Lord, that Solomon had asked this thing."

On the second day of the second month in the fourth year of Solomon's reign he began the building of the temple at Jerusalem.

You will remember Hiram, king of Tyre, who had sent men and materials and built David's house? Solomon appealed to him and he sent materials and workmen. Solomon gathered many Hebrew workmen, and working together the temple was built.

It was situated on a hill called Zion or Moriah. The walls were massive, pillars within are supposed to have supported the flat roof and added to the beauty of the interior.

Jehovah had said to Solomon, "Concerning this house which thou art building, if thou wilt walk in My statutes, and execute Mine ordinances, and keep all My commandments, to walk in them, I will establish My word with thee, which I spake unto David thy father."

"And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will not forsake My people Israel."

The temple was finished, and Solomon brought in all the gold and silver that David and his father had dedicated, and the instruments "put he among the treasures of the house of God."

Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, all the heads of the tribes, etc., to bring up the Ark of the Covenant and to place it in the most holy place.

"And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place . . . also the Levites which were the singers, all of them of Asaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, being arrayed in white linen, having cymbals and psalteries and harps, stood at the east end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets."

"It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising, and thanking the Lord; and when they lifted up their voices with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, and praised the Lord, saying, For He is good; for His mercy endureth for ever; that the house was filled with a cloud, even the house of the Lord. So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud; for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God."

The king turned his face and blessed the whole congregation of Israel, and he said, "O Lord God, be clothed with salvation, and let Thy saints rejoice in goodness."

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

The Connecticut house in which we now live is about 200 years old. Nobody knows the exact age. The first papers referring to it were signed during the reign of King George III.

At one of the doors there was a broken knocker with the date 1798 on it.

And on the grounds there is an old cemetery with headstones containing such dates as 1789, 1798 and several others than cannot be deciphered any longer.

Right alongside the house there are two enormous old spruce trees which our tree man told us are at least 200 years old.

"Bride-and-groom" trees they called them. When a couple got their homes (by sex-manias) and on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

Jack Koford in the Miami Herald: "He worked in Miami Beach for several seasons. . . (Ed. Note: After several columnists whom he shoo-kicked in N. Y. ran him out of town—and after Lee Mortimer made him retract and apologize—every half-hour for 48 hours). . . He balanced his penchant for mispronouncing words and discussing subjects he knew nothing about. . . He developed a technique of insult toward listeners, the high point of which was a final admonition, "Drop dead, you creep!" . . . When he arrived here unknown in Miami, he was given a great big hand by various newspapermen, among whom I must regretfully mention myself.

"We helped him along, even appeared on his program. Once he established himself, he turned on each individual who had held out the hand of friendship to him. He called us all the names the restrictions of radio would permit. This worried us not at all. It made us a little sad, though, to think that a man should kick aside loyalties and decency. . . But, even after this sudden assault, he hymned the praises of A. J. Winchell (who was the only one in N. Y. to give him a break! . . . At long last he bared his fangs at him, too. I don't know why, anyhow, than I know why he turned on those who were nice to him in Miami. But I do know ingratitude (Koford means ing-Rat-tude) and disloyalty are among the meanest traits of men."

Now he's the No. 1 Heebie-betty.

married and built their home, they planted a pair of these trees. The couple got old and died. But the trees went on and on, bigger and bigger, higher and higher.

Our house contained nine or ten rooms in the old days. When we modernized it we cut it down to six.

As we were showing some friends through our new home the other day, someone said how foolish it was to have such big houses.

"What did anybody with an average family need eight or nine or ten rooms for?" asked one of the ladies. "It only means more work, more repairs, more upkeep."

My thoughts went to the cemetery next door, where one of the original inhabitants was buried in 1789. She was born in 1705, according to the tombstone, and was 84-years-old when she died.

On her tombstone was the inscription "Rest in Peace."

Not very original — it was probably trite as far back as 1789 — but how true!

Perhaps when they put her into the ground in 1789 that was the first time she had real peace.

I never knew the lady—I am not quite that old. But I can imagine her slaving away in this ten-room house, with a big brood of children and none of our conveniences.

Our modern housewives are complaining about all the work they have to do. Yet they have all kinds of appliances, pushbuts and doodads.

Imagine that woman — with practically none of those things we consider indispensable today. Yet I wonder whether she was not just as happy—perhaps happier than the women of today.

You must all have read about the elaborate funeral services for Eva Peron and seen pictures of the many parades held in her honor.

You must have read about the magnificence in which she lived and in which she died. If ever a woman lived in luxury she did. Hers were palaces and jewels and many costly gowns, automobiles, airplanes—in short anything, but anything, a human being could possibly desire.

Yet, in the midst of the gorgeous funeral procession, there was Eva—in a wooden box, six-by-three, dressed in ONE shroud, oblivious of all the pomp and circumstance.

Perhaps that is one of the reasons why we cut the ten-room house down to six.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The movies' No. 1 movie fan is Van Johnson. Afternoons when he isn't working, he takes a sandwich and goes to some neighborhood theater. When he is working, he often sees an early show in the evening. One day he even watched a picture in a projection room while eating his lunch.

I asked Van, between scenes of "Steak for Connie," whether he sees so many pictures with a thought to improving himself as an actor. "Not a bit," he said. "I just happen to like movies. I relax and thoroughly enjoy myself."

He admires the era of the late Producer Irving Thalberg—"the Garbo pictures, the Shearers, early Crawford. The man had a stamp, a magic touch. I'll never know what it was, but he didn't need his name on a picture."

Van's favorite picture of all time? "I've got a lot of 'em," he frowned thoughtfully. "Maybe 'Penny Serenade' with Maye Grant and Irene Dunne; 'A Man's Castle,' Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young; 'Camille,' Garbo and Robert Taylor."

He thought of some other oldies that he likes: "Queen Christina," "Night Flight," "Room Town," "Honky Tonk," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Captains Courageous."

"All those big, gaudy pictures," Van explained.

Does he want to direct pictures some day? "I should say not!" the red-haired star exclaimed. "I wouldn't know the first thing about it. But I would like to do a New York show some day."

Does his wife Evie go to movies too? "She hates 'em. She'll go occasionally, but it's like pulling blood out of a beet," Van's pictures? "Those she'll sit through. She'd dam' well better. They're our bread and butter."

Louis Cahern, cavorting through the comedy with Van, next plays the title role in "Julius Caesar."

"I can SEE the 98-cents part . . . but where's the part that costs the twenty-five bucks?"

My New York

New York—Just a handful of days ago the 1952-53 theatrical season opened an event which may escape the interest of a South Dakota farmer or a Nevada cowboy but which goes to make up a major part of autumn and winter existence for the New Yorker. Somewhere from 50 to a hundred new shows may find their way into those playhouses that have not been commandeered by the monster, television, and as usual, the larger number of them will be turkeys, making one and all wonder how producers could have been asinine as to bring them into Broadway in the first place.

Some enormously inviting prospects are in view; there is talk of Margaret Sullivan returning to Times Square to act in a Terence Rattigan play, and if Hepburn gets clearance on her supporting cast of British actors she will be along in Shaw's The Millionaire. Scuttlebutt has it that Moss Hart is rehearsing a new, eerie play that either will be a masterpiece or a Zip-the-what-is-it, and with luck we may even see Robert Morley do The Little Hut, fresh from London. At this point, however, I question a suspicion. I suspect that the best show of this season already has come and gone from America, without even touching on the shores of Manhattan.

This would be the newest production of George Gershwin's hardy perennial, Porgy and Bess, which just the other day wrapped up a brief run in Washington, D. C., and headed for Europe and a long tour and which, I presume, is this very minute being offered onstage somewhere in Vienna. The word is that likely it will not appear along Broadway until a year from now and this comes under the heading of dismaying news for New York theatergoers and their country cousins who traipse in from the suburbs to see the latest hits. This is theater at its highest, most eloquent pitch.

Porgy is a show that I personally asked whether he thinks more Shakespeare should be brought to the screen.

"Depends on how it's done," the tall actor replied. "They did 'Romeo and Juliet' but another it with sets and costumes (Director) Joe Mankiewicz is going to do 'Caesar' simply, on black and white film. Without over-awe, that feeling of 'By heaven, we're doing a classic!'"

Broderick Crawford sings and dances in "Stop, You're Killing Me." But he says: "Gene Nelson, Fred Astaire and Bing Crosby haven't a thing to worry about!"

ally have avoided in the past because in the face of the critics' applause I always have suspected Gershwin's of being a limited talent. Purely as a layman, I have made out Gershwin to be a man with a smattering of musical background and a flair for melody which never really bothered to learn his trade. There are moments in his work—snatches from an American in Paris, the sweeping theme of Rhapsody in Blue and a few others—that give one hope, but always these seem to me to be outweighed by a good deal of pretentious borkum. I am speaking of Gershwin as a classicalist; as a popular song-writer, of course, he was superb.

My feeling now is that I just never heard Gershwin in the right showcase. The right showcase is a troupe of singers such as the new Porgy cast boasts and which, under Alexander Smallen's direction, fills the stage with an endless volume of magnificent song, with tone and tenderness that make the hair stand upon the nape of your neck. "Did Gershwin write all these?" I kept telling myself as I listened, and I would look down in the dark at my program and be assured he did.

There are a few honest publicists in New York and a genial man named Bill Doll is one. When he twisted my arm and swore up and down that this Porgy was beyond compare, I believed him, because Doll is a man who knows the theater. It amounted to a pilgrimage of love when I went to Washington's National theater to see it, because I was riding between New York and Washington on a spectacularly ridiculous Pennsylvania railroad train, guaranteed by the information clerk to be air-conditioned and being, naturally, nothing of the sort. I sweated off three pounds, but came away from the National with, as the bookwriters say, a song in my heart.

If you remember the excitement that was caused when Ezio Pinza appeared onstage in South Pacific, giving to the musical comedy stage a voice that was far out of sight of the customary quavering tenors and beardless baritones, you will get an idea of how William Warfield sings Porgy. This is an Arkansas-born man who has sung in concerts for several years now—"truly extraordinary," said one critic; "

Service Of Harvest To Be Conducted

The Service of the Harvest will be observed in Zion Reformed Church, Stroudsburg Sunday at 11 a.m. according to Rev. Frank H. Blatt, minister of the church.

The subject of the morning message will be "What Will a Man Reap?" It is always true, that "whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Is there a possibility that is more to this statement than meets the eye?

The organist and choir directress will open the service with the prelude, "I Love to Tell the Story." The senior choir has selected as an offertory anthem "The Lord is loving unto every man" by Simper. The flowers in the altar vases are being placed by Mrs. Ruth Bossard in memory of her husband, Frank Bossard.

The Committees of Men of the Men's Brotherhood composed of George Shick, Ernest Setzer, Emmett Fabel, Arch Possinger and Claude Beidler will be in charge of decorations for the Harvest Service and have requested that all folks who have fruits, vegetables, or flowers to contribute, bring them to the church or church school room before 8:00 p.m. this evening.

The ushers for the service are Claude Beidler, Russell Drake, Bernard Rowe and Clinton Warner.

Two Workers Injured At Bridge Site

Two Delaware bridge workers were hospitalized last night after an accident at the Water Gap construction site operated by the Johnson, Drake and Piper Co.

One of the two men, Stanley Green, 53, of 808 1/2 Eynon St., Stroudsburg, listed as a "dock worker," suffered a broken ankle and undetermined injuries as a result of the accident.

A co-worker, Oscar Hanna, 29, Blakeslee, was treated for a cut on the top of his head.

Both men were admitted to Monroe County General Hospital last night at about 9 p.m. for treatment and observation.

Green was given several X-ray examinations last night in an effort to complete diagnosis of the extent of his injuries.

A worker at the construction site, meanwhile, said the accident occurred when a "boom buckled" on the "northwest crane" as the workers were driving piling.

Seven or eight others who were also working on the scene at the time "jumped out of the way," the worker said.

Officials of the construction company were unavailable for comment last night.

Jews Begin Observance Of New Year

Jerusalem (AP)—Israel's Jews joined their brethren the world over at sundown last night to usher in another New Year, Rosh Hashanah. By the Hebrew orthodox calendar, it is the 5713th since creation.

During the next two days the ram's horn will sound both in Holy Land synagogues and in humble prayer tents pitched in Israeli immigrant camps in the Judean hills, the Galilean mountains and along the coastal plain.

The tone of the holy event was set by Chief Rabbi Dr. J. L. Herzog who said in his broadcast New Year message:

"Mankind will find its way back to faith, in the vastness of the world of science, the belief in God gives man the feeling that he does not stand alone."

Orthodox and conservative branches of Judaism throughout the world will observe the sacred holiday until Sunday. The reform Jews will end their observance today.

Elks Discuss New Activities

East Stroudsburg Lodge of Elks, Ted D. Hoffman, exalted ruler, transacted routine business at the meeting this week which was well attended. H. L. Heberling acted as secretary in place of John R. Hauser, who is on vacation.

A proposition for membership was received and announcement was made of the opening of the bowling season last night. Two round robins are also being planned for the winter season.

There will be a dance for members and their ladies Saturday night, Oct. 11. Following the meeting, Dr. F. W. Shafer showed pictures he had taken and luncheon was served by Floyd Lambert, the steward.

The ushers for the service are Claude Beidler, Russell Drake, Bernard Rowe and Clinton Warner.

No Criminal Cases Slated For Trial

The regular September term of Monroe County Court will get underway Monday at 9 a.m. when the petit jury will report for duty. President Judge Fred W. Davis will preside.

Civil court cases will be taken up, but there is nothing definite in the number which will be attached during the week. There were originally 24 cases listed for trial, but two have been reported settled. This number will also be reduced by settlements, continuations and the like.

Judge Davis has been working in the Pittsburgh courts since Tuesday of this week and was expected to arrive home last night.

Walter May Not Speak At Meeting

The Foreign Policy Association of the Delaware Valley will proceed with its meeting next Wednesday, apparently without the services of Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Easton) as speaker. The other speaker is to be John Russell Craig, Bethlehem, Walter's Republican opponent.

Craig Moore, association chairman, has asked Mr. Walter to reconsider his decision against participating in a foreign policy discussion with Craig.

Mr. Walter, one of the top-ranking Democrats in the House of Representatives, said in a letter to Mr. Moore that since accepting the FPA's invitation to join Mr. Craig on the program that he had been charged by his Republican rival with "hoodwinking" the people during his 20 years in Congress.

In view of this charge, which Walter described as "gratuitous" and "unwarranted," the Eastern congressman said he would not discuss "any issue" with the GOP candidate "at any time or any place."

Although he would neither confirm nor deny having made such a comment when contacted by a regional newspaper, Mr. Craig commented this week that "if Mr. Walter desires to believe everything he reads in the newspapers, I am sorry. . . Mistakes may happen by newspapers and by me."

In his letter to Moore, Mr. Walter said: "I know that the thousands of farmers, veterans, servicemen, parents of service personnel, business people and citizens of all walks of life who have had occasion to call on me for assistance in their contacts with our Government do not agree that I 'hoodwinked' them in rendering the services they received from me."

"I regret, therefore, to be compelled to inform you that I will not dignify the Republican candidate for Congress by discussing foreign policy or any other issues with him at any time or any place. My position on this vital subject and all other matters important to our beloved Republic and to its citizens is a matter of public record."

Moore has asked Walter, barring reconsideration, to obtain services of some one else of equal stature to present "the Democratic viewpoint on various international problems."

Meeting is scheduled for Parden Hall, Lafayette College campus, at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The surface of the Gulf of Mexico is roughly 6 inches higher than the Atlantic ocean, says the National Geographic Society.

The application states that in order to qualify for the $45 per month payment, the veteran must have been under hostile fire for not less than six consecutive days or must have been wounded, a prisoner of war, or missing in action during Korean action. Parents or families of deceased veterans, killed in Korean fighting, also are entitled to the claim, the application states.

Applications will be forwarded to the federal government for examination and when the inspection of records is complete, payment will be made.

It also is noted on the form that individuals may not receive for the same month both combat pay and incentive or special pay.

Community Concert Drive Closes This Afternoon At 5

George T. Robinson, president of the Pocono Community Concerts Assn., has announced that 5 p. m. today is the deadline for residents of the Stroudsburg and surrounding areas to sign up for tickets for the 1952-53 season.

The object of the campaign is to renew memberships and also enroll new ones for the series of concerts to be presented at the auditorium of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. There are assurances of four numbers, which may be increased if memberships permit. Attendance is by membership only. No tickets are sold at the door on nights of performance. Mrs. William R. Levering, campaign chairman, pointed out.

A canvass has been under way during the week by workers, but in order that none be missed, those not called on are asked to go to the headquarters at the Penn-Stroud Hotel up to 5 p. m. today and secure memberships.

Reports received to date indicate very satisfactory progress, it was stated yesterday afternoon. However, the committee points out that the type of artists secured for the concert depends on the number of memberships secured. "In plain business terms, you get what you pay for," Mrs. Ethel Atwood, of Columbia Concerts, Inc., emphasized in urging the canvassers to even greater efforts for extensive coverage.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

A ruling by John Wernett, secretary of the Pocono Mountains League, making Ray Steele, Bushkill hurler, eligible for the post-season playoffs, was based largely on the first of two letters published below, in addition to a telephone conversation between Wernett and Arthur H. Ehlers, general manager of the A's. Ehlers also directed a telegram to Wernett last night on the situation, which has been up in the air in recent weeks. Wernett made last night's ruling with the full approval of Clinton Getz, league president who is vacationing in Canada.

Getz, on Monday of this week, had ruled that Steele was ineligible on information received in the second letter published below. However, Getz gave the Bushkill club the remainder of the week to obtain information strong enough to have Monday's ruling reversed. Wernett, on the strength of the information received, ruled that Steele was eligible to play in the post-season Pocono Mountains League playoffs, which started last Sunday and will continue until a champion is declared.

September 18, 1952
Mr. Don Eppley
25 N. Greene St.
E. Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Eppley:

I would like to inform you that Ray Steele signed a professional contract with our Ottawa Baseball Club. This contract is for the 1953 season. He has not played any professional games, and will not until the spring of 1953.

What your league will rule on this of course, I do not know. Frankly, I would not consider him a professional until he has appeared in the lineup of a professional team which he has not done yet.

Very truly yours,
Arthur H. Ehlers
General Manager

September 18, 1952
Mr. Clinton I. Getz, Pres.
Pocono Mts. Baseball League
Lake Harmony, Penna.

Dear Sir:

Regarding your letter of September 7, 1952, Ray Steele has signed a contract with our Ottawa Club and received a bonus for signing same.

In all extent and purposes, this makes Ray a professional. On the other hand, he has not played any professional games nor has he received any salary from the Ottawa Club, and will not receive any until he reports to spring training next year.

I don't know what the rules of your league are, whether or not it is just if he signs a contract making him a professional or if he has played any games professionally that would make him ineligible for your league.

Anything further that I can help you with, do not hesitate to write me.

Very truly yours,
Bernie Guest
BG/tac

Steele signed with the A's shortly before the Pocono Mountains League season officially ended, but came back to pitch two games, one in relief and a full nine-inning job. Ray lost in relief but won in the distance. However, since that time his eligibility has been under discussion on all fronts. However, last night's ruling makes his eligibility official for the playoffs now under way.

Another great local athlete, Alben "Red" Fetherman, considered by many to be the greatest athlete to ever graduate from Stroudsburg High school, wrote this column from Muhlenberg College yesterday, to settle a misunderstanding shared by virtually every person who witnessed last year's struggle between the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg grid machines, at Gordon Giffels field. This writer, and everyone that I have contacted, have labored under the belief for almost a full year that Fetherman was the back who intercepted Paul "Candy" Miller's jump pass in the shadow of the Stroudsburg goal, when the Cavaliers appeared destined to tally the winning touchdown.

However, the former football and baseball star at Stroudsburg explained the situation in the following portion of his letter. "This is the point which I wish to make clear. The jump pass thrown by 'Candy' Miller was not intercepted by me. The credit all belongs to our fullback, Dave 'Bull' Shook. He is the real 'hero'. I would feel much better if you would make this clear to all of Stroudsburg. Dave was a grand ball player and a very good friend of mine. So please give credit to whom it belongs."

It takes a "big" man to pass credit on to another, especially after the former has been credited with a great play for the best part of the year. "Red" has been brilliant in all three sports played at Stroudsburg and he certainly is one of the better baseball players to ever appear in Monroe County and surrounding areas. However, he desires to give a fellow player credit for a great play, one that most certainly prevented East Stroudsburg from winning.

Stroudsburg Grid Machine Nips Bangor, 7-6

Weingartner To Adelmann Pass Decides

Stroudsburg High's grid machine fought back from a 6-0 deficit in the third quarter at Gordon Giffels field last night and emerged with a 7-6 decision over Bangor, for the first victory in the series since 1942. It was the first time that a Jerry Stulgaitis coached club had ever defeated the maroon and white clad Bangor eleven.

it, but short on substitutes, fought bitterly in the final period to protect the microscopically thin one-point edge that the home club had fashioned in a hair-raising third stanza.

All the scoring was crammed into two action filled minutes, when long runs and hair raising play had the crowd of 3,000 people on the edge of its seat and tense with excitement.

Bangor, in mud spattered white uniforms midway in the third period, broke up the battle of lines when Mike DeVito circled his own right end from the Bangor 24 and completely outran the tiring Stroudsburg club, covering 76 yards and giving the visiting charges what appeared to be a big 6-0 edge, after Eddie Mugazero's extra point attempt from placement went wide of its mark.

Stroudsburg was quick to take advantage of the break and scored on the first play following the kickoff.

Karl Weingartner, playing with a pair of injured ankles, faded back from his own 34 and fired a short pass to Co-Captain Al Adelmann, who speared the ball on the dead run on his own 44-yard stripe and galloped 56 more yards for the touchdown, with the aid of superb blocking by several unidentified linemen and backs.

With the score knotted at 6-6, Don Garavanti and the entire Stroudsburg team pushed the ball across the goal line on a crushing plunge that gave the Mountaineers a 7-6 victory.

Bangor threatened seriously once early in the final period, but a determined Stroudsburg defense took advantage of a roughing penalty and stopped the Slaters cold.

Twice in the last period it appeared as if Stroudsburg would lose the ball on downs, but during pass plays by Weingartner enabled the Mountaineers to hold the ball until time ran out on the official clock.

The victory, though it broke Bangor's domination of the series and gave Stroudsburg two straight wins, proved very costly as Co-Captain Floyd "Willie" Williams suffered a broken left leg and Bill Metzger fractured his nose.

Stroudsburg tangles with Emmaus, at Emmaus, next Saturday, in search of its third straight victory.

Bivins Stops Wallace

New York, (AP)—Jimmy Bivins, a 32-year-old veteran, knocked out young Coley Wallace with a right to the jaw last night in 17 seconds of the ninth round at St. Nicholas Arena in a nationally televised bout. Bivins weighed 184, Wallace 200.

Indians Gain Full Length By Downing Tigers

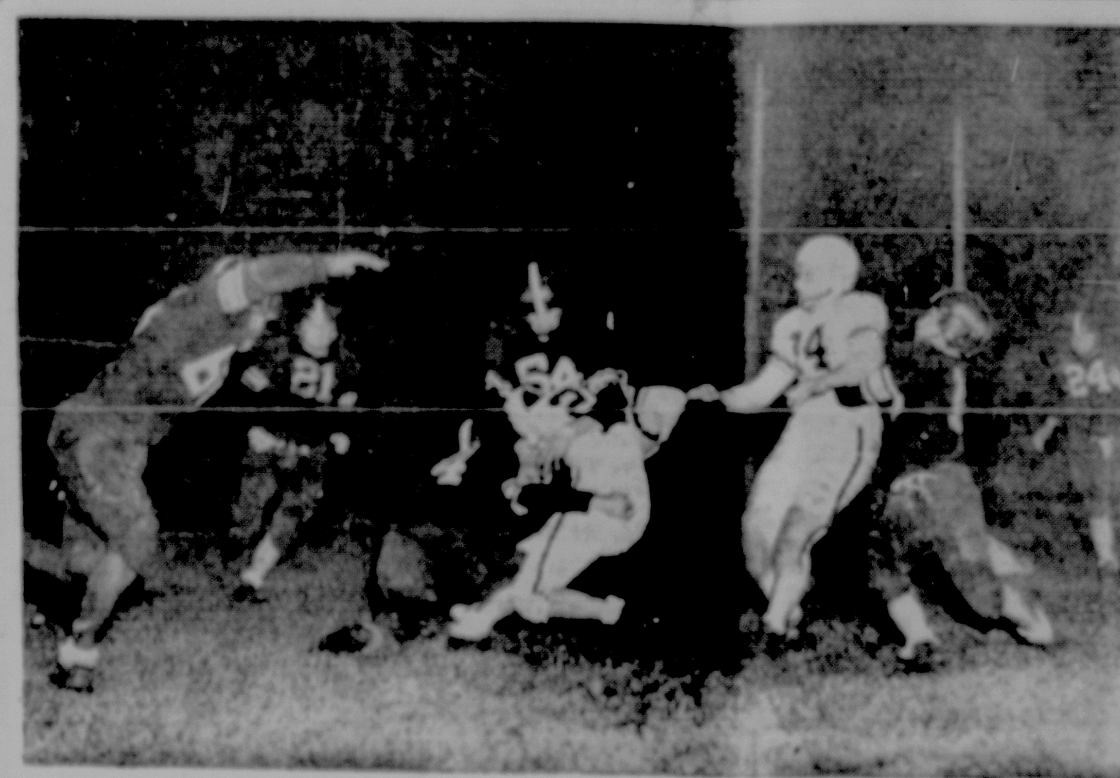

Cleveland, (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, still clawing for the pennant, dumped the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1, last night on Larry Doby's 31st homer and Early Wynn's eight-hit pitching.

Wynn racking up his 22nd victory, gave up hits in all but two innings.

But only in the first could the Tigers bring a run across with the help of a walk, Harvey Kuenn's single and a fly.

The loser was Hal Newhouser.

Steele Declared Eligible To Play

John Wernett, secretary of the Pocono Mountains League, ruled last night that Ray Steele, ace hurler for Bushkill, would be eligible to take part in the playoff series between Bushkill and Tannersville which opens tomorrow on the latter's home field.

Wernett, ruling in place of and with the full authority of Clinton Getz, league president who is vacationing in Canada, stated last night that he was making Steele eligible for play on information received yesterday from Arthur Ehlers, general manager of the Philadelphia A's, which indicates that the young right-hander hasn't received a bonus as yet and hasn't even had his contract approved.

Ehlers further stated that in his own belief, Steele wouldn't be a

Dodgers Top Braves On Jethroe's Haste

Boston, (AP)—An eighth inning wild pitch by Max Surkont gave the Brooklyn Dodgers their winning run yesterday as they dropped their first-place three-game lead over the New York Giants with a 4-2 victory over the Boston Braves.

And, as the third of a series of showers was breaking, impatient Sam Jethroe triply insured the Dodgers' triumph by hitting a 2-1 pitch to shortstop "Pee Wee" Reese to retire the Braves in the bottom of that frame.

Giants Fade From Pennant Race As Phillies Triumph, 1-0

Philadelphia, (AP)—The second place New York Giants slid to four full games behind the Brooklyn Dodgers last night as they dropped a 1-0 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies' fireballing left-hander Curt Simmons.

A first inning error by right-fielder Clint Hartung resulted in the only run.

Simmons was in trouble in both the eighth and ninth innings but came through with strikeouts in the clinch to shut off New York rallies. He fanned Whitey Lockman to prevent a New York score in the eighth and whiffed pinch-hitter Wes Westrum to end the ninth.

The lone run of the game was unearned. Richey Ashburn drew a walk from starter Sal Maglie, the eventual loser. Al Clark hit a liner which bounced off Hartung's glove for an error. Ashburn moved to third as Clark was safe at first. Del Ennis followed with a sharp single to left scoring Ashburn.

Reds Decision Pirates, 4-3

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Cal Abrams lashed a tie-breaking single in the ninth inning last night to give the Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over the cellar-dwelling Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rookie Jim Greengrass got the Reds off to a flying start in the first inning with a two-run homer.

Cincinnati picked up another tally in the first on a wild pitch by Bobby Friend and singles by Willard Marshall and Ted Kluszewski. This pair also produced singles in the ninth, with Marshall scoring the winning run on Abrams' blow.

Catcher Joe Garagiola belted his seventh homer in the second inning to make the count 3-1, and the Reds tied it up in the fifth on singles by Dick Groat and Clem Kosherko, both of whom then scored on errors.

Topping wrote in the application that he has been married three times previously. It would be the first wedding for Miss Lowthers.

New York, (AP)—Wee Bobby Shantz, lightweight Philadelphia left-hander, survived his own wildness and his teammates' fielding lapses to overcome the league leading New York Yankees, 2-0, last night in a thrill-packed pitching duel with Vic Raschi, the Athletics' long-time nemesis.

Shantz' shutout, his 24th triumph of the year, cut the Yankees' first place margin over the pursuing Cleveland Indians to a game and a half. The Indians pick up a full game on New York, wallowing the tail-end Detroit Tigers, 4-1.

Stroudsburg Speedway will feature a three-in-one racing program tomorrow, at the half-mile oval located near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport, just off Route 209. The entry-racing program is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

The regularly scheduled stock car action will take place, featuring three qualifying heats, a consolation grind and the feature event. The feature will consist of 20 thrilling laps and will present some of the best drivers in the East.

John Munday, track manager, also announced this week that the local speedway will present two other thrill-packed events.

Tobyhanna, Newfoundland Seek Second Wins In Pocono Mountain Association Playoffs

Daleville Boosters, Pocono Mountain Association pennant-winner, and the Newfoundland Bears, who so unceremoniously dumped the Boosters in the opening of the league's semi-final playoff series last weekend, go at it again on the Greene-Dreher Fairgrounds tomorrow. Since the Bears will be amid familiar surroundings and because they finally caught up with Bob Haines, the loop's runner-up top dog, the odds would appear to favor the Botter men and thus bring the semi-set to a close.

Tobyhanna, winner over Gouldsboro in a 4-3 squeaker, may find things a bit tougher when the teams meet on the Golden's pine-encircled greenward. The latter, the only club to halt championship Daleville in two games during the regular season, though a bit disheartened after leading for seven frames of the first contest, is nevertheless confident that it can square matters. And the club's record at home over a five-year span, during which it won 58 of 68 games, would seem to bolster its hopes.

The fan who goes in for an old-fashioned slugfest game is almost certain to get that in the Daleville-Newfoundland set, that is if the opponents adhere to their season's script. For Daleville it'll be Haines again, with the Bears' Manager Henry "Hawk" Botter undecided between "Buck" Hutchins and Bill "Lefty" Herring.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

With the teachers, I could be an enthusiastic member of the TGFS club. Saturday came in the nick of time this week, which seemed to consist mainly of a series of crises, any one of which could have been catastrophic.

Yesterday afternoon, doing a bit of research in the Historical Society Museum in the basement, I was tempted to shut the big Dutch door, bolt it tight, and just stay there in another century.

Suppose they did have to carry water and firewood; suppose they had to dodge some of those Indian arrows, now so safely resting in the cases; suppose they had no food except what they had grown and taken care of themselves?

I still think things were much more peaceful that the Stroudsburgs at the beginning of the club season in this year of 1952.

Oh well, there's still Saturday, when all you have to worry about are weddings, football games, and private parties. If any organization pops up announcing they'll meet on Saturday afternoon, let's revolt, shall we?

Especially we members of the "Thank Goodness For Saturday" Club.

Lay Leader Speaks To Local WSCS

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church held the first meeting of the year on Thursday night in the guild room of the church, Mrs. Sturges Eger, new president, presided. Devotions were led by Mrs. Robert Ford, secretary of spiritual life.

Announcements of a candlelight tea to be held in October and a rummage sale in November were made. A family night supper in charge of circle 3, Mrs. Oscar Sharp, leader, will be held on September 24. Members and officers were urged to attend the district meeting in Allentown on September 30, opening at 10:30 a.m. Those desiring transportation and reservations should contact Mrs. Bogert before September 25.

Mrs. C. Gerald Blake of Scranton, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Wyoming Conference, spoke on "WSCS, the Quadrennial Theme and Emphases." She reviewed the significance of the laurel wreath, the triangle, hemispheres, and cross which form the WSCS symbol, thinking of the office of Christian Social Relations and Local Church Activities as the base of the triangle.

The Quadrennial Theme, "That the Kingdom of God May Be Realized," and the "Emphases," she said, are undergirded by discipleship, which costs time, service, money, study, prayer, thought and conviction. An investment of more than six and a half million dollars contributed by members for the maintenance of hospitals, missions, neighborhood houses and other projects at home and abroad yields a high rate of human interests, Mrs. Blake said. She asked that the members grow in wisdom and understanding of the needs in the community and the world, that they grow in stature for a larger and more enduring world fellowship, and that they grow in favor with God and man.

Mrs. Isabel Leedom, sub-district chairman, explained her official duties and discussed district plans and goals. She gave a report of the conference held in Frankfurt on September 10.

A Covenant of Discipleship was led by Mrs. Bogert. Also taking part were Mrs. Robert Ford, Mrs. Oliver Wilson, Mrs. Howard Eckert, Mrs. Dale Learn, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Maude Stem, Mrs. William Wallie. The program had been arranged by Mrs. Howard Eckert.

Refreshments were served by Circle 7, of which Mrs. Margaret Fisher is leader. The tea table was decorated with fall flowers and Mrs. Leedom and Mrs. Bogert poured.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Margaret Oldorf gave everyone a bad fright Thursday when she was taken ill just before closing time. As customary these days, it was blamed on "the virus," so no one was prepared for yesterday's announcement that our "voice of credit authorization" had undergone an appendectomy. Too bad, but it just goes to prove that the only harmless appendix is found between the covers of a book.

Perhaps I should refer to him as "Mr. Holt Wyckoff, for, as he proudly explains, he is now a man of increased responsibility and nobility. Be that as it may, everyone is sincerely pleased at the happiness Holt and his wife, Ann, are finding in parenthood, and waiting impatiently to glimpse their three and a half year old twins, Thomas and Michael.

Along with congratulations, the new father is receiving reams of free advice—particularly from our older Store Family members who remember another sturdy lad of the same age.

Reservations are still being made by those who plan to cruise up the Hudson on Monday, with the Wyckoff excursion. The cost for the trip is $5.50 for adults and $3.50 for students, and we now learn that it is possible, at additional cost, to combine just part of the boat trip with a complete sight-seeing tour of New York City. The latter will take the visitor to all the famous, remote places one might not go by oneself. A sight-seeing tour has also been arranged at West Point, where the cadets on parade will prove a big attraction. If you love a parade (and who doesn't?) you can call our shoe department today for further information.

It may be coincidence. Then again the amplifying system may be psychic. In any event, it began playing "That's My Weakness Now" just as I began writing about my weakness now—the beautiful new feathers, just arrived in our notions department. Some are set in gold, some are enhanced by gems; others are shaped like flowers, or depend upon color alone to win a lady's heart. Selling from $1 to $3.50, they can be used in a dozen ways, on dresses, hats or stoles.

Let's quill time this Fall by fussing with feathers—for glamour's sake.

Something that really "hits the spot" is the new Paris Spot Stick in gold metal. The size of a fountain pen, this fits cozily into any purse or pocket and will help you put up a fine front even when the waitress has literally "spilled the beans" over your best fall suit. A good companion for either men or women, Spot Stick does away with the proverbial stick in the mud and makes us all "spic in our duds." The cost, together with a can of fluid... just 65c.
